

An alien to-do list

1. Get some more fuel for our UFOs.
2. Set trap to stop the Centaurians from Alpha Centauri from getting near our planet. Maybe use heat-seeking missiles? (We're cold blooded so they won't hit us.)
3. Find a way to counter the Centaurian freeze-ray. We fall asleep as soon as it hits us and we're stuck until the ice around us melts.
4. Continue working on Project Death Ray. It's a project to make a laser that does more damage than an ordinary laser. It'll take a long time to reload, but who cares? If we can blast those Centaurians to bits with it we'll take it!
5. Go to Earth and rebuild Stonehenge, kill King Kong and Godzilla and un-sink Atlantis and the Titanic and make everyone on them live again. In return the humans have promised to give us loads of uranium, a really explosive thing. We aliens have lots of lasers and high-tech stuff that the humans don't have but there are a few things you can only find on Earth, like uranium, bananas and plastic. We have been trading with them for a long time.
6. Attack Zorgus and Zuicar, the two smallest planets orbiting Alpha Centauri. The Alpha Centaurians are a multi-planet empire. But we just prefer to stay on one planet, and the humans have only got Earth and their moon. (They were planning to create some sort of floating platform and settle Jupiter.)
7. Invent a machine that can clone chocolate. Unless the humans get there first. The race is on!
